Big Three to Deliver 'Hands Off Berlin' Notes

Sharply Reject Soviet Attempt to End Four-Power Rule

BERLIN — The ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France were scheduled to deliver separate "hands-off-Berlin" notes to the Soviet representative in East Germany tonight.

The three notes were similar but not identical. The United States protest was the strongest. It was understood to contain a reference to the temporary arrest of two congressmen, the wife of one and their escort officer in East Berlin last Sunday.

U. S. Ambassador James B. Conant came to Berlin from Bonn. He or another high-ranking official was to hand the U. S. note to Gregori Pushkin, the Soviet representative in East Berlin.

The Western notes constituted a sharp rejection of the Soviet Union's one-sided attempt to end four-power rule in East Berlin.

The notes did the following:

1. Requested further information about the Soviet Union's declaration that East Berlin affairs are the sole concern of the East German Communist puppet regime and not of Russia itself.

2. Made clear in an implicit warning to the Soviets that the Western Big Three will resist any tampering with the four-power status of Berlin.

The East German Communists have laid formal claim to Berlin as their capital, and said that from now on Western powers must follow Communist orders in East Berlin.

Informed London sources made it clear that the West would not stand for any Communist grab.

Foreign Office officials in Paris said, "The Western powers agreed that the Berlin status should remain untouched and there is no question of altering it."

The Western Big Three previously affirmed, in a joint statement issued in New York Sept. 28, that they intend to keep four-power control of Berlin.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano in a speech before the Bonn parliament today pledged continued support for the Western stand.

The crisis started when the Soviet Berlin commandant rejected an American protest against the detaining at gunpoint of two American congressmen, the wife of one and their escort officer in East Berlin last Sunday.

Soviet Maj. Gen. P. A. Dibrova told Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher Jr., the U. S. commandant, that Berlin no longer was an occupied city and the Western powers would have to respect East German law.

Bruno Baum, secretary of the East Berlin Communist Party, carried this stand a step further when he told a Communist meeting today that "the German democratic Communist republic is a sovereign state and Berlin is its capital."

The official Communist Party newspaper Neues Deutschland rejected the American stand that Berlin is still ruled by four-power occupation forces.

It charged that the Western powers themselves broke the four-power agreement on the city, isolated 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

The Soviets claim Berlin no longer is under four-power occupation but is under the rule of the East German Communist puppet regime.

Western officials feared the new hate campaign against West Berlin indicated the start of new Communist pressures against the economic life of the free zone in an effort to freeze out the United States, Britain and France.

Clinic at McKinley School Dec. 5 for Second Polio Shots

There will be a clinic at McKinley school at 1 p. m. Monday, Dec. 5, for the second injection of Salk vaccine (polio). First and second graders who received their first dose of Salk vaccine last spring in the Harrisburg Public schools program are eligible to participate.

Newcomers to the district who have certification of their first injection in a school program may have their second dose of Salk vaccine if there is adequate vaccine.

Children in the Harrisburg Public schools who received their first shot last spring in the Dorrisville clinic may return there for their second shot on Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 1 p. m. if the parent wishes to be responsible for transportation. If he returns to his room afterwards there will be no absence checked against him.

Eisenhower Tells GOP He Will Help Report Record to People

CHICAGO (CP)—President Eisenhower told the Republican National Committee today that "I shall do everything in my power next year" to help report to the nation the record of party achievements.

The President's message was in the form of a telegram to the committee, meeting here with three Cabinet members—Ezra Taft Benson of Agriculture, Sinclair Weeks of Commerce and James Mitchell of Labor—in attendance.

It was a message of four paragraphs and about 300 words. It said in part:

"You have a splendid record to submit to the voters in 1956. I personally am proud of Republican achievements for the prosperity and the security of the American people."

"Everything in My Power."

"I shall do everything in my power next year to help you report the record accurately and fully to the country."

"Of course, we must not stand still, absorbed in the contemplation of what we have done. Con-

Indict Caudle, Connelly for Tax Conspiracy

ST. LOUIS — Two former officials of the Truman administration and an attorney were named today in an indictment charging conspiracy, bribery and perjury.

Named as defendants were Matthew J. Connelly, former White House appointment secretary; T. Lamar Caudle, head of the Justice Department's tax division until he was fired by President Truman in 1951; and Harry I. Schwimmer, a Kansas City attorney.

The indictment said the three conspired with Irving Sachs, a St. Louis shoe broker, to avoid prosecution for tax evasion. Sachs was later indicted and pleaded guilty, receiving a fine of $40,000, in 1951.

The indictment said Connelly agreed to use his influence "in the hope of reward and other corrupt motives" to persuade officers of the Internal Revenue Service to recommend against prosecuting Sachs.

The indictment said Connelly persuaded Caudle to decline to prosecute Sachs and that Caudle persuaded his subordinates to recommend against criminal action against either Sachs or his firm, Shu-Stiles Inc. of St. Louis.

Schwimmer, Sachs' attorney at the time, was indicted for perjury in the first true bill to be returned by the jury two weeks ago.

Schwimmer was charged with telling the jury a $10,000 check he received from Sachs in 1949 was a legal fee. The government said it was actually a fund to bribe officials so that Sachs could escape prosecution.

Rogers Rites at Ledford Friday

The funeral of Mrs. Anna Rogers, Ledford woman who died at 7:50 p. m. Tuesday in the Lightner hospital, will be Friday at 2 p. m. at the Ledford Baptist church. Rev. Olen Clarda will officiate and burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery. The body lies in state at the Turner funeral home.

WSIL Affiliates With NBC; Will Telecast Programs

Harrisburg Television Station WSIL-TV today announced that it has joined the National Broadcasting Company as an affiliate and that a definite lineup of NBC programs will be announced soon.

To be telecast will be such programs as Dave Garraway's Today, George Gobel, Howdy Doody and many more, including the Rose Bowl and Cotton Bowl college football games, along with the fabulous Tournament of Roses, all on Jan. 2.

The National Broadcasting Company affiliation is in addition to the ABC network, which WSIL-TV has had since early in 1954. The station has been on the air since December, 1953.

This station has been telecasting the NCAA college football games on a live basis from NBC on Saturday afternoons and professional football games from the Cleveland Browns live network on Sunday afternoons for several weeks.

The last Saturday afternoon college football game of the regular season will be telecast Saturday afternoon with live telecasts of professional basketball to start over the NBC network Saturday afternoon, Dec. 10, continuing throughout the season.

It was learned that the South Seven high school conference has voted against the televising of any conference basketball games.

J. M. Holderby Killed When Auto Overtakes

Was Automobile Dealer, Civic Leader at Ridgway

An inquest was scheduled for 5 p. m. today at Marion in the death of John M. Holderby, 55-year-old Ridgway automobile dealer and civic leader who died in an auto mishap west of Marion yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Holderby's car overturned on Route 13 eight miles west of Marion at 1:34 p. m. and it was believed he died instantly of a broken neck.

Deputy Sheriff Dean West of Williamson county said he believed Holderby lost control of his car and ran into an embankment on the right side of the road before the auto overturned.

He said Holderby's body was found nearly 50 feet from the car, which stopped in a field north of the old Carterville road. His neck was broken and Deputy West said it was his opinion that the Ridgway man died instantly. The car was demolished.

Coroner Sam Simmons of Williamson county set the inquest for 5 p. m. today at the Wilson funeral home in Marion.

Mr. Holderby, an auto dealer in Ridgway for many years, was a member of the Methodist church in Ridgway, the Methodist Laymen's Organization of Gallatin county, a past worthy patron of the Eastern Star, a member of the Shrine and was district area chairman of the National Automobile Dealer's Association.

Also he was active in Boy Scout organization work, a member of the Ridgway town board and of the Ridgway Chamber of Commerce.

He is survived by his wife, Zelah, and a son, Thomas, husband of the former Nigel Jenkins of Harrisburg.

The body was taken to the Smith and Edwards funeral home in Ridgway.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Methodist church in Ridgway with Masonic rites by Lodge No. 816 of Ridgway. Rev. Joseph Harris will officiate and burial will be in the Lindale Memorial Gardens.

The body will be taken from the funeral chapel to the residence to lie in state late this afternoon.

West Vienna Man Dies of Gunshot Wound

ANNA, Ill. — J. J. Taylor, 67, of West Vienna, Ill., died early today in a hospital here of a gunshot wound in his head.

Taylor was admitted to the hospital last Saturday after his stepdaughter, Mrs. Cora Milham, West Frankfort, found him wounded on the porch of his home. Johnson County Sheriff Oran Cox said Taylor apparently was cleaning his .22-caliber rifle when it discharged.

Taylor's wife was visiting in Chicago at the time, and his stepdaughter happened to be passing by his home.

Congressman Urges Bipartisanship Conference to Solve Farm Problem

WASHINGTON — A Republican congressman from the Midwest today suggested that President Eisenhower call a bipartisan conference to seek a solution to the farm problem.

Rep. Sid Simpson of Illinois, a member of the House Agriculture committee, said in a telegram to the President that such a conference should leave "politics at home."

He said it should "stay in session until an agreement is reached" on how to help the farmer out of the economic squeeze between falling income and higher production costs.

Stronger NATO is Answer To Russia, Nixon Says; Geneva Papers Disclosed

WASHINGTON — Vice President Richard M. Nixon believes that a strengthened North Atlantic Treaty Organization is the answer to Russia's tough attitude at the recent Geneva conference.

"No effort should be spared" in increasing the West's European defenses in view of Russia's tactics at the Big Four foreign ministers meeting, Nixon told the United Press in an exclusive interview.

A high diplomatic official said Nixon's view reflects the official position of the administration. The official said great importance is being attached to the next NATO meeting Dec. 15 in Paris.

The State Department Wednesday published a 307-page record of what transpired at the Geneva conference. It showed, among other things, that Dulles charged Russia with trying to perpetrate "a cruel deception" of the world with its disarmament proposals.

NATO Strengthening Need

Nixon said the failure to make progress toward settling international differences at Geneva "has shown more than ever the wisdom and necessity of increasing the strength of NATO and maintaining the bonds of friendship of the free world."

He also voiced hope that there will be an increased exchange of visits between top officials of the United States and other free nations. This is increasingly important in view of Russia's attempts to split the Western alliance, the vice president said.

The Geneva papers were made public Wednesday night after Dulles himself revealed inadvertently that the State Department had compiled a record of the Oct. 27-Nov. 16 Geneva meeting.

Reporters were startled to see a Dulles-autographed copy of the document in the hands of Portuguese Foreign Minister Dr. Paulo Cunha as he left Dulles' office. Newsmen immediately demanded copies.

Contradictory Statements Cited

The documents showed that Dulles, on Nov. 11, charged that Russia had made contradictory statements on whether international controls were possible on reduction and prohibition of nuclear weapons.

The report reflected grave concern about the present "shortage of teachers"—a shortage that is expected to grow much more acute in the next decade as school enrollments continue to climb.

Conference officials estimated that the nation needs at least 165,000 more elementary school teachers and 40,000 more high school teachers right now.

Word has been received here of the death of Charles O. (Doc) Whitlock, former resident of Raleigh, who died at his home, 4841 Kempf street, Drayton Plains, Mich., on Nov. 19. He died in his sleep of a heart attack.

Funeral services for Mr. Whitlock were conducted Nov. 22 from the Donelson-Johns funeral home in Pontiac with Dr. Thomas Malone officiating. Interment was in Ottawa Park at Waterford, Mich.

Mr. Whitlock was a member of the First Baptist church at Raleigh where he lived for many years while employed by the State Highway department.

He was married to Mary Kathryn Butler at Raleigh and lived in Pontiac, Mich., for the past 14 years where he was a retired employee of General Motors Truck and Coach Co.

He is survived by his wife, six children: Lloyd O. Hayward and G. William of Pontiac, Roger M. of Lake Orion, Mich., Mrs. Loomis Tate and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell of Pontiac, thirteen grandchildren and one great-grandchild. He is also survived by two brothers, Thomas E. of Galatia, Jack of Raleigh and three sisters, Mrs. Winnie Newcomb of Raleigh, Mrs. Maud Butler of Eldorado and Mrs. George Oglesby, Harrisburg.

Both company and union officials said wages were not an issue in the negotiations. The union demanded that an extra crew be required to handle color plates at full pay regardless of the time required to do the job and overtime pay for handling material not used on the same day it was processed.

Stereotype workers currently average $3.08 per hour for day work and slightly more than $3.33 per hour for night work. Last year, stereotypers averaged over $7,000 including overtime.

Higher Teaching Pay Urged by Education Group

WASHINGTON — The White House Conference on Education today urged that teaching pay scales be set high enough "to compete effectively with other fields bidding for quality manpower."

It also said "the prestige and status of teaching" must be made comparable to that of other professions.

The recommendations were carried in the conference's fourth general report, dealing with the question, "How can we get enough good teachers and keep them?"

The conference of 1,800 delegates from across the nation meantime moved toward a strong stand favoring federal aid for building much-needed new public schools.

A formal report on the controversial federal aid issue is due at the concluding session of the four-day meeting tonight.

At round table discussions Wednesday, an overwhelming majority of the delegates appeared to be in favor of federal aid. But many of them placed conditions on their support, the chief one being that there should be no federal control over school programs and policies.

The report on teachers said, "The American public must be re-awakened to the fact that teachers work with our most precious resource—our children."

The report reflected grave concern about the present "shortage of teachers"—a shortage that is expected to grow much more acute in the next decade as school enrollments continue to climb.

First Counts Show 10 Dead; One in Illinois

President Leads Appeal for Second Safe-Driving Day

By United Press

Death came to the nation's highways early on this Safe Driving Day.

It was the second annual observance of S-D Day, a day set by the President's Committee for Traffic Safety to bring to citizens' attention the toll that highway accidents take. But any faint hopes of a perfect day, free of traffic deaths, vanished soon after midnight.

The National Safety Council, compiling and adjusting the death toll at its Chicago office from figures furnished by the United Press and other news services, showed 11 deaths by 10 a. m. CST. At that hour, Ohio led with four deaths, Louisiana had two, and Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and New York had one each.

In the early hours, the nation's metropolises, New York City had no deaths, although it had 20 accidents including four which injured nine persons. The nation's capital city, Washington, had no traffic deaths in the first nine hours.

The first reported S-D Day death was that of Robert Johnston, 44, Centerville, Ind., killed at 12:27 a. m. CST on U. S. 40 near Richmond, Ind. His car hit the rear of a semi-trailer truck driven by Charles Senig, 25, Terre Hill, Pa. State police said they believed Johnston was driving without lights.

The death count started quickly and there were at least three fatalities before S-D day was three hours old.

Early reports came from Michigan, where L. T. Bell of Plymouth died when his car smashed into a Wayne county culvert at 2:15 a. m. EST. Shortly before 3 a. m. EST, Bruce Donald Mosher, 23, Glen Falls, N. Y., died when his car smashed into a tree on a curve. In the Chicago area, a 27-year-old sailor, Gerald Lagro, was struck and killed by a truck at 2:25 a. m. CST.

President Eisenhower led the appeals for sanity and caution on S-D Day. He pleaded with all Americans "to help demonstrate that we can reduce accidents on our streets and highways."

"Last year, an American man, woman or child was killed in traffic every 15 minutes," Mr. Eisenhower pointed out. "Someone was injured every 25 seconds. And this year, the record is worse; more people are dying; more are injured and crippled."

On the first S-D last year, on Dec. 15, the safety council counted 51 traffic deaths. This was a reduction of only nine from Dec. 15, 1953, total of 60.

Mother, Daughter Plead Innocent At Elizabethtown

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill. — Mrs. June Davis, 40, and her daughter, Betty, 17, of Cave-in-Rock, Ill., pleaded innocent Wednesday to murder in the death of Betty Joiner, 19, Hartford, Conn., last July 1. They remained free on bonds of $20,000 each.

The mother and daughter were arraigned before Circuit Judge Charles T. Randolph after he denied a defense motion to quash the indictment on grounds that it was vague and illegal.

Miss Joiner died under unusual circumstances after a scuffle with Betty Davis over Glenn McDowell, who was described as Miss Davis' boy friend. Miss Davis pulled Miss Joiner, a former Cave-in-Rock resident, from McDowell's car after stopping it on the highway.

Miss Joiner then ran to the highway where she collapsed and was struck by another car. A coroner's jury ruled she died of a skull fracture but did not fix cause of injury.

The grand jury indictment said the Davises inflicted the fatal injury by striking Miss Joiner with an unknown instrument and pushing her against McDowell's car.

Nomination Is No Give-Away

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, now an avowed candidate for the presidency in 1956, is the man to beat in the Democratic party and everybody knows it.
Historically, it is highly significant that he should occupy this dominant position. Not too many defeated candidates for the office get that kind of acceptance from their party.
William Jennings Bryan was the great exception, winning the Democratic nomination three times though never the presidency. Thomas E. Dewey had to come from behind to grab a second nomination in 1948. Wendell Willkie, though enjoying high national prestige after his 1940 licking, was undercut by party regulars in 1944.
This does not mean Stevenson is now a walk-in for the 1956 nomination. It is interesting to observe how many party leaders have changed their tune since 1953 and 1954. Then they spoke as if Stevenson could have the nomination on a platter.

One learns not to take this preliminary comment too seriously, no matter how enthusiastic. Certainly it is a pretty good index of a man's general status in the party. But it is not "delegated talk."
As the time for lining up delegates draws near, the leaders' points of view change from an easy doling out of fulsome praise to practical political trading. Those who think they have something to gain by bargaining to stop acting as if they were ready to give away their delegates for nothing.
Recent developments in the South offer illustration. Both Stevenson and his friend Stephen Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, labored hard in the southern vineyards to rebuild party strength after President Eisenhower's heavy 1952 inroads. They felt thereby they had great glory enhanced Stevenson's own cause for 1956.
Very likely they have. But they got a surprise when Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia not long ago mentioned Ohio's Democratic Gov. Frank Lausche as a good prospect for 1956.

Though Lausche no doubt would have a considerable appeal to southern conservatives, he was not being seriously advanced as a nominee. It was Russell's way of reminding Stevenson and any other northern candidates that the South will not deliver its support for the asking. It will want to know what the party proposes to do—platform-wise and perhaps on the vice presidential nomination—to give the South recognition commensurate with its strength both in the convention and at the polls.
This is the standard political pattern of the months leading to the convention. The days of glib "I'm for Adlai" talk are gone.
Stevenson is in fact powerfully placed to get the nomination again. But he clearly will have to trade for it and fight for it. The prize is too big to be given away often by politicians who are trained to exact their "quid pro quo" in return for favors extended. If he doesn't already know them, Stevenson is now learning the hard facts of political life.

Three tablespoons of baking soda in a quart of warm water make a good cleaning and deodorizing solution for washing defrosted refrigerator or freezer, and for cleaning bread and lunch boxes. Follow the washing with a clear water rinse.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Democrats Reneged On Their Ballyhooed Congressional Investigations; Democrats Talk About Protecting Small Business But Don't Do Much; Big TV Business Scores Big Victory With FCC.

WASHINGTON. — There's one thing the Republicans can usually count on from the Democrats: they yell more than they produce. Last winter the Democrats, assuming control of Congress, bragged about the probes they were going to stage. Then they got bogged down in the congressional routine, staged no probes, but bragged about the probes they would stage when Congress adjourned.

Came the congressional adjournment. The Dems proceeded to go touring. They flocked all over the globe, from Helsinki to Buenos Aires. They probed the tourist offices, they probed the restaurants, they probed the night clubs—everything except affairs of Congress—and all at government expense. Estes Kefauver, who had promised a big probe of Dixon-Yates and juvenile delinquency took a leisurely loll around Asia—though he's getting down to work on Dixon-Yates this week. Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington, who was voted $200,000 for a probe of TV-radio communications found himself busy in the northwest.

Some solons have stayed at home and done fine jobs — Senators O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Sparkman of Alabama, Hennings of Missouri, plus Congressmen

Stress Need for Improvements At Eldorado High

Voters in Eldorado high school district 102 will go to the polls Saturday, Dec. 17, to vote on a bond issue to finance an education building improvement program.

A part of the building program is to improve the agricultural department at Eldorado Township high school.

A spokesman of the Eldorado high school district states that this past spring the ETHS vocational agriculture department was not approved by the State Board for Educational Improvement in Springfield for veterans training because of the poor existing conditions:

1. Lack of soil, milk, cream and seed testing laboratories. 2. Lack of adequate storage space. 3. Lack of floor space in farm shop. 4. Lack of adequate equipment.

In addition to not having laboratories for the testing of soil, milk, cream and seed, the department also lacks wash-locker rooms, conference room and paint shop, all considered essential in a modern agriculture department.

Comparative figures, as given by a spokesman from the high school district, shows that the Eldorado classroom is 24 by 27 feet and a modern classroom should be 30 by 36 feet, the farm shop floor space at ETHS is 720 square feet as compared to 4,000 in a modern department and in equipment and tools, Eldorado has a total of $1,200 as compared to $4,800 in the modern department.

High schools in southern Illinois modernizing their agriculture departments in the past five years include Harrisburg, Benton, Galatia, Metropolis, McLeansboro, Carlini and many others, it is reported.

European Tour Will Be Summer Field Course at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill.—A European tour will be the 1956 Southern Illinois university summer field course in geography, Dr. Floyd F. Cunningham, department chairman, announced today.

Cunningham said the 48-day trip, beginning with embarking on a steamship, June 12, will cover 10 European countries. The tour is being planned in cooperation with Academic Travel Abroad, a non-profit New York travel organization.

The provisional itinerary includes visits to historic, scenic, rural and industrial places in England, Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Western Germany, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, and France.

General expenses of ship passage, rail, bus or other local travel in Europe, board and room, and various admission and guide service fees included in the program have been lumped together in a course fee of $1095. Details on tour arrangements and requirements may be obtained from him at the SIU geography department office.

Qualified persons of college junior class rank or higher may use the European tour to obtain 12 quarter hours of college credit for completing the course. Emphasis will be given to the study of agricultural, urban, commercial, transportation, and marketing geography, and to port and harbor development. Those wanting college credit are to enroll by Dec. 31. Others will be admitted.

Cunningham will direct the tour. He has traveled in Europe, lived in Germany, France, Egypt, and has been around the world. There will be no pretense of offering a luxury trip, he says, but there will be provision for good accommodations, maintaining high standards of cleanliness and comfort.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my strength. — Psalm 121:1.

The early Palestinians thought their gods were gods of the Hills. Later they thought that their one God made Heaven and Earth. But still they clung to ancient mental pictures.

For a breakfast treat, flatten packaged buttermilk refrigerator biscuits and place a spoonful of raisins, brown sugar and butter on each. Fold edges together and seal. Bake and serve piping hot.

Davenport, Ia., Police Find Clue In Woman's Slaying

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP)—Police working 16 hours a day in the biggest manhunt in Davenport's history Wednesday night discovered their first major clue in the slaying of Mrs. Lucille Bacher, 43, and the beating of her husband.

A gray cloth cap with what appeared to be blood stains on it was found on a loading dock of the John Deere warehouse at Moline, Ill.

The Scott County Druggists Assn. Wednesday night started a reward fund for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer. The association contributed $200 and said it would accept contributions from anyone.

Mrs. Bacher was killed Tuesday in the Lincoln Pharmacy suite where her husband operated. A coroner's report said she was hacked to death after she was tied up in a back room.

Bacher said he was attacked when he went to his wife's assistance. The assailant took $90 he was fleeing.

Farm Hand Accused Of Murder Near Death By Self-Inflicted Wound

ANNA, Ill. (AP)—Bevie Pannell, 60, a farm hand accused of murdering a Union County farmer and wounding the man's wife, was reported in critical condition today from a self-inflicted wound.

Pannell shot himself in the head after shooting and killing Audie Littleton, 60, on a Davis Nursery farm near Dongola Nov. 21, and wounding Littleton's wife, Jewel, 32. Mrs. Littleton was released from the hospital Nov. 28.

Mrs. Littleton told authorities Pannell shot her husband and her during an argument over a ham. A murder warrant has been issued against Pannell, whose condition has been listed as fair until today.

Housewives Doing Own Chores Upset Nation's Economy, Professor Says

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—An Indiana University professor says housewives upset the national economy by doing their own chores.

Dr. Kate Mueller told an education convention that diaper, canning, cooking and cleaning services have become big businesses. "The woman who would do all these things for herself is a hazard to our nation's economic prosperity and our international balance in trade," she said.

Research psychologists say their ideal type of prospective Air Force or Navy pilot is a youngster from a large family who enjoys bodily contact sports, builds and drives "hot rods," likes all kinds of people, believes in some religion, and is daring but not foolhardy.

Woman's Club Has Program on Citizenship

The Harrisburg Woman's club met Monday afternoon in the club room of the public library for its annual program on Citizenship.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. Bishop Hill who substituted for the president, Mrs. L. B. Kimmel. The song "America" was sung and the Pledge of Allegiance led by Mrs. E. B. Webster. Mrs. J. A. Bottomley read the club collect.

Mrs. J. A. McGuire, a new resident of Harrisburg, transferred her membership from the Mt. Carmel Woman's club to the local club and was welcomed by the members.

It was announced that the Christmas coffee would be held at the home of Mrs. N. A. Herrmann Monday, Dec. 12, from 9 to 11 a. m.

The program chairman, Mrs. Clarence Bosket, introduced Mrs. Herman Davis who read the lovely poem "Hall of Fame" for the meditation. Musical entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Perry Moore who played the piano solo by McDowell, "A. D. 1620," which described the Pilgrims' voyage to America.

"What About Harrisburg?" was the topic of a panel discussion given by Mrs. Ray Johnson, Mrs. Hudson Mudge, Mrs. Carl Rude and Mrs. Bosket. The women told of improvements that could be made to make Harrisburg a better place in which to live, and among them were stop lights on the square, garbage collection and a zoning district.

Hostesses were Mrs. L. M. Hancock, Mrs. Royce Cline and Mrs. F. G. Burnett.

Ledford Baptist Golden Circle Class Meets

The Golden Circle class of the Ledford Baptist church met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Grace Riley.

The meeting was opened with the song "Amazing Grace" and with prayer by Ada Thompson. Roll call was answered with a scripture verse. Mrs. Ethel Lynch gave the devotion, reading from Psalm 104.

Special prayer was offered by Agnes King for Leota Tucker who is a patient in the Holden hospital in Carbondale. Minutes were read and approved and the treasurer's report given. Testimonies were made by everyone present after which the song "Follow On" was sung.

Dismissal prayer was by Ethel Lynch.

Members present were Nell Hancock, Verna Lynch, Elsie McDermott, Ethel Lynch, Hallie Waltz, Pearl Johnson, Hazel Reector, Agnes King, and Grace Riley, and visitors present were Mrs. Rose Mary Taylor and children, Roxanna and Dennis, Mrs. Ada Thompson, Connie and Melba Riley.

General Baptist Golden Rule Circle Holds Meeting

The Golden Rule circle of the General Baptist church met Wednesday night at the church. "Amazing Grace" was the opening song followed with scripture reading by the president, Mrs. Helen Hicks, who read the 10th chapter of John. Minutes were read by Mrs. Cora Church; and the song "Blessed Assurance" was sung.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melton who are leaving for the winter were remembered with handkerchiefs.

Pie and coffee were served to the following: Alice Reed, Edna Spurlock, Eunice Black, Cora Church, Wilda Frazier, Wanda and Jackie Ann Lee, Lydia Winkelman, Nora Hill, Jack Mattingly, Loretta Hill, Harvey, Helen, Patty and Marilyn Hicks, Charles and Ona Melton, Elwood, Donna and Phyllis Jean Harris, Linda and Louise Brinkley, Hess, Ronnie and Louise McCuan, Stephen, John and Ola Maszaros, Linda, Dorris and Annabelle Deaton, Mary Lou and Bill Spurlock.

The next meeting will be Dec. 21 and will be a Christmas party at which time 50 cent gifts will be exchanged.

VFW Auxiliary Plans Christmas Parties

President Josephine Wilson presided at the regular business meeting of the VFW Auxiliary held recently at the VFW home.

Mrs. Jean Stuby was appointed chairman of the Christmas party to be given for Mrs. Bramlet's class of retarded children at the Horace Mann school. Individual gifts will be given each child. The auxiliary members were asked to bring candies, gum, oranges and other goodies for this party to the VFW home Dec. 12.

The auxiliary will assist the VFW post in making ten Christmas baskets for needy families. Auxiliary members are to bring contributions of staple products to the VFW home also on Dec. 12.

The annual Christmas party for the auxiliary members was planned for Monday night, Dec. 12, at 7:30 at the VFW home. There will be an exchange of gifts costing between 50 and 75 cents. Committees appointed for the party were composed of the following: Decoration, Viola Fink, Rita Humphrey, Eileen Medley, Lora Jo Rude, Bernice Johnson, Gerry May and Jean Stuby; refreshment, Emma Shanks, Venita Webb, Myrtle Wagner and Hazel Jones; entertainment, Viola Fink, Eloise Cole and Ruby Short.

After the meeting the hostess served cup cakes and coffee to the 14 members and officers present. "Happy Birthday" was sung to Lora Jo Rude who was presented with a small gift from the auxiliary.

Mrs. Walter Lewis Hostess To Good Neighbors Unit

The Good Neighbors Home Bureau unit met recently with Mrs. Walter Lewis for an all day affair. A covered dish was brought by those in attendance for the noon hour dinner.

The home adviser, Mrs. Harry Harper, met with the unit and the day was spent in making glow candles.

A short business session was held and the secretary, Mrs. Ruth Barton, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Eight members and seven guests were present. Two of the guests, Mrs. Amy Rhine and Mrs. Iris Rhine, joined the unit. Other guests present were Mrs. Inez Lewis, Mrs. Ruth McGill, Mrs. Edna Lasseter, Mrs. Ellen Gholson and Mrs. Hulda Jane McVay.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Via with an exchange of Christmas gifts.

Mrs. Margaret Shelton Hostess to Bethel Class

Bethel class of the Dorrisville Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Margaret Shelton for the regular social. Mrs. Kathleen Barker opened the meeting with prayer after which Mrs. Shelton read the scripture lesson.

The class song was sung and the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Laverne Cooper.

An enjoyable social hour followed during which delicious refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Margaret Shelton, Mrs. Pauline Cox, Mrs. Kathleen Barker, Mrs. Bernice Pickering, Mrs. Laverne Cooper and daughter, Sheryl, Mrs. Ruby Gulleddge, Mrs. Vivian Coget, Mrs. Eileen Tuttle, Mrs. Elizabeth Ledbetter, Mrs. Mildred Atkinson and Mrs. Helen Lightner.

Grand Champion Steer Sells for $15 Per Pound

CHICAGO (UP) — Julius, grand champion steer of the 1955 International Livestock Exposition, sold today for $15 a pound.

At Julius' unofficial weight of 980 pounds, the sale would have brought his 16-year-old owner, Nancy Turner of Champaign, Ill., about $14,700.

But Howard Johnson, owner of the national restaurant chain which bears his name, and who bought the Aberdeen Angus, gave Nancy a bonus. He weighed her 12-year-old sister Jane on the scales with Julius, and their combined weight of 1,075 pounds added to a sales price of $16.125.

Nancy, who was speechless with excitement before the bidding got under way, could only beam with pleasure when the final gavel sounded.

The $15-a-pound bid was the same as last year's bid for the grand champion shown by Janice Hullinger of Manly, Iowa. The record price of $20 a pound, paid to Sue White of Big Spring, Tex., in 1953, still stands.

Ellard Paezler, president of the Paezler Meat Packing Co. of Chicago, bid for Johnson. It was the 26th consecutive time he has bid for the grand champion of the International, and the 13th time he's walked away with the beef.

The reserve champion, U. K. Spotlight, the University of Kentucky's 1,150-pound shorthorn, was next on the auction block.

The champion carload of Aberdeen Angus owned by John F. Mommensen and sons of Miles, Iowa, brought $45 per hundred pounds, $2 per hundredweight better than the Mommensen champion carload sold for last year. This was the sixth year that Mommensen entered the champion carload. It was bought by Swift and Company, for the Empire Market of Schenectady, N. Y.

Nancy said she earmarked the money for a college education.

Stratton Gives Craig Handicap in Safe-Driving Bet

SPRINGFIELD 12-10—Gov. William G. Stratton called on Illinois motorists to exercise special caution on Safe-Driving Day and wipe out the "handicap" he gave Indiana Gov. George N. Craig in betting a hat Illinois would have a better safety record today.

The wager is based on each state's reduction of traffic accidents today over normal accident counts.

"I am quite sure that every motorist within the state of Illinois will observe the principles of common sense, courtesy and caution when operating their vehicles on S-D Day and every day thereafter," the governor said.

"I look forward with pleasure toward receiving my new hat from Indianapolis and I'll wear it with pride, knowing that it really was a present from the good people of our own state," Stratton said.

He said national records on S-D Day last year showed a 15 per cent drop in fatalities, which would have been a saving of more than 5,000 lives if continued through the year.

Alton's Tap Water Is Full of Oil

ALTON, Ill. (U.P.)—Alton's 30,000 residents have been getting oiled lately just by drinking tap water. An oil barge loaded with 100,000 gallons of diesel fuel sank Monday in the Mississippi river just north of the city water company's intake. Some of the oil color and taste filtered into the system. Complaints started rolling in along with a few tall tales and questions.

One caller wanted to know if it was "safe to light a cigaret." Another said he took a drink of water, lit a cigar, and blew his dentures across the room.

F. H. King, the company manager, ordered liquid sodium chloride added to the water system Wednesday to help kill the taste, and some activated carbon was dumped in to help absorb the oil.

But King hoped most for a good wind blowing from the east. "That would blow the oil slick to the Missouri side," he said.

John L. Lewis' UMW Duns CIO for Repayment of $1,665,000 Loans

NEW YORK (U.P.)—The AFL and CIO today opened separate conventions primarily to ratify an agreement that will merge the two organizations into the largest and most powerful labor group in the nation's history.

The merger itself will take place formally next Monday when 1,800 representatives of the two groups meet at the 71st Regimental Armory for the inaugural convention of "The American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations."

John L. Lewis' independent United Mine Workers Wednesday night requested the CIO to pay back $1,665,000 in old loans before merging into the giant new organization.

In a letter to CIO Secretary Treasurer James B. Carey, UMW Secretary Treasurer John Owens dunned the CIO for repayment so its members can "honor this valid loan before you dissolve your organization."

Says UMW Lent Money

A spokesman for the UMW said the mine workers lent the money after Lewis had led the then Committee for Industrial Organization out of the AFL in the mid-1930's.

But Carey replied directly to Lewis that his union was "in error" in claiming the CIO was in arrears or was being dissolved.

Carey also referred to Lewis' refusal to bring the mine workers into the merged labor group.

In rejecting an invitation, Carey said, Lewis had "achieved the momentary ripple of publicity which you sought to relieve the boredom of your isolation from the democratic labor movement."

Routine Meetings Expected

The separate, two-day "transition" conventions were expected to be routine, with overwhelming approval of the merger and the new constitution. Both AFL President George Meany and CIO chief-tain Walter P. Reuther and their executive boards approved them earlier this week.

FBI Holds Two Men for Swindling Oklahoma Woman

OKLAHOMA CITY (U.P.)—The FBI held two men today for questioning on an alleged $20,000 horse race swindle of a wealthy Shawnee, Okla., farmer's widow who has lost more than $100,000 in "con" games in the past 10 years.

The two suspects, arrested Wednesday night in Tulsa and Kansas City, were identified as Raymond C. Moore, 51, Henryetta, Okla., and Winnett Dean McCafferty, 30.

Both were charged with "conspiracy to transport or cause to transport in interstate commerce about $20,000 knowing the same to have been taken by fraud."

McCafferty was arrested on a Kansas City street corner while Moore was arrested at the Tulsa airport when he boarded a plane for Kansas City.

The widow, Allie Crossland, a woman in her 70s, is owner of the swank Ox Yoke Club in Shawnee, which has been padlocked by court order the past year. She served a 30-day jail sentence this year for liquor possession and a drunk driving charge is pending against her. Shawnee police recalled Mrs. Crossland has reported losses of $50,000 and $40,000 in two other swindles the past 10 years.

Mendes-France Condemns Faure Decision to Dissolve Parliament; 5 Officials Quit

PARIS (U.P.)—Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France today opened France's angriest political campaign in a century with a bitter condemnation of Premier Edgar Faure for leading the nation toward "catastrophe."

Mendes-France, once a close friend of Faure's, said he pitied the premier for his historic decision to dissolve Parliament since history must blame him for "the disastrous consequences for the governmental system and for the civil peace."

Mendes called a meeting of the executive committee of the Radical Socialist Party and it was reported he may read Faure out of the party.

The crisis broke Tuesday when the National Assembly heavily defeated Faure on a vote of confidence. Instead of resigning, Faure invoked an obscure clause of the constitution and announced he would "fire" Parliament.

Five Ministers Resign

The constitutional clause — not used since 1877 — stunned the Chamber of Deputies. It touched off a bitter battle between the left and right and so divided Faure's own cabinet that five ministers resigned.

The powerful Socialist Party also issued a blast at the Faure government and called a meeting of its assembly steering committee.

Ironically Faure fell because the National Assembly refused to vote for the early elections he demanded. Now early elections are mandatory. It was generally believed they would come on Jan. 8.

The elections would be held under the widely-detested election system in force since 1951. The system of alliances among small parties is hated by the voters because it deprives them of voting for an individual candidate—now they can only vote for parties.

Communists Seek Alliance

Faure's move appeared popular only with the Communists. Their smiling leaders immediately issued a powerful appeal for a "popular front" election alliance with the stunned Socialists.

Fear Murder in Disappearance Of Farm Couple

LEBANON, Ill. (U.P.)—Evidence of a maniacal murder piled up today in the disappearance of a young farm couple from their blood-spattered home.

More than 100 law officers and volunteers joined the search for clues and authorities sought several persons with records of violence and mental disorders.

Police feared a "maniacal killer" had killed Harold Smith, 29, and his 35-year-old wife, Arlene. Clifford Flood, chief deputy sheriff of St. Clair county, called it "the weirdest case we've ever had."

Mrs. Smith's parents discovered the empty, bullet-riddled home Tuesday. There were at least five bullet holes in the door and windows of the house and blood was spattered on the floor of all five rooms.

Police found bloody prints made by a bare left foot, apparently Mrs. Smith's, both inside and outside the house. In a ditch near the front of the house they came upon a pair of woman's panties, a broken dental bridge, and a human tooth.

Mrs. Smith was known to wear a dental bridge.

Police theorized that a killer had broken into the home Sunday night. They feared that he was either a sexual psychopath or a maniac.

Arrest orders were sent out for a man who shot a schoolteacher in the area in January, 1954, and for a former mental patient who had been arrested for manslaughter.

Italian Teachers Strike in Protest Of Low Salaries

ROME (U.P.)—Italy's 91,600 secondary school teachers walked out today in a three-day, nationwide strike in protest against "indecently poor" living conditions and salaries as low as $70.40 a month.

Rome city transport workers called a walkout to back demands for improved work shifts and wage benefits.

Italy's Communists, quiet through the months of Moscow "peace offensive," were showing signs of returning to active agitation and were backing the teachers and transport workers strikes wholeheartedly.

Millions of school children stayed home for an unexpected holiday as the normally mild teachers angrily rejected government overtures as an "attempt to deceive both teachers and public."

It was their fifth strike in nine months and was backed by both Communist and non-Communist unions.

$83,834 Savings Bonds Purchased in Saline County During October

Saline county sales of E and H United States Savings Bonds in the month of October, 1955 totaled $83,834 according to Walter Bargman of Harrisburg, General Savings Bonds County Chairman of the U. S. Treasury Department.

Sales in the state of Illinois totaled $35,861,743 according to T. Merle Paul, State Sales Director for Illinois, showing an increase of 12% over October sales last year.

Eighty-seven percent of the 1955 quota of $499,400,000 has been reached in the first ten months and according to Mr. Paul prospects for making the quota and continuing to lead all other states in dollar sales are very good.

Illinois sales for the month accounted for 8.9% of the national sales which were $404,302,000.

East St. Louis Woman Is Killed in Crash

MILLSTADT, Ill. (U.P.)—Mrs. Mary Fisher, 42, of East St. Louis, died Wednesday when the car in which she was a passenger went out of control and wrecked on Ill. 9 near here.

Three persons were injured. Mrs. Joseph Kmiecik, also of East St. Louis, was hurt critically. The others injured were the driver, William R. Baker of Venice, and Paul Jackson of St. Louis.

College Cage Giants to Test Anti-Big Man Rule

By United Press
College basketball puts the 1955-56 show on the road tonight with a pair of star giants, Bill Uhl of Dayton and Ronnie Shavlik of North Carolina State, ready to give the new anti-big man rule its first test.

The anti-big man rule, making the free throw lane 12 feet wide instead of six feet, is one of three major changes made in the college game this year. It's designed to keep the giants further away from the basket — to make them "earn" their goals instead of rolling up scores on slap-in shots.

But seven-foot Uhl and six-foot Shavlik, two of the nation's outstanding contenders for All-American honors, figure to do quite a bit of scoring under any rules tonight.

North Carolina State, perennial Atlantic Coast Conference power ranked No. 4 in the nation by the United Press board of coaches in the pre-season ratings, is expected to have little difficulty with Florida State, and Dayton, ranked No. 6 nationally, is a top-heavy favorite over Pepperdine.

Fordham, ranked No. 13, meets a stronger foe in St. Joseph's, Pa. Alabama, ranked No. 15 and apparently Kentucky's biggest rival in the Southeastern Conference, opens against Jacksonville State. And Southern Methodist, No. 18 nationally and title choice in the Southwest Conference, faces North Texas State.

Other major rules to be given their first showing involve stalling and fouling.

The rule designed to prevent stalling calls for a "held ball" if a "closely guarded" player in possession of the ball does not pass or shoot within five seconds.

The rule on fouling wipes out the previous "three-minute rule" which called for two free throws on every personal foul in the last three minutes of the game. The free throw rule now is the same for all 40 minutes — one shot on common personal fouls and a "bonus" shot if that one is made; two shots on fouls in the act of shooting.

Basilio Wins 12th Round TKO From De Marco

BOSTON (AP) — Carmen Basilio, the "Iron Man" from Chittanooga, N. Y., who again stopped ex-champion Tony De Marco in Wednesday night's thundering return battle at jammed Boston Garden, will make his second defense of the welterweight crown in February against another ex-champion Johnny Saxton.

Dr. Charles Heck of Syracuse, N. Y. — personal physician to the courageous armor-plated welter king—said today he doubted that Carmen's injured left hand would prevent a February defense.

"It appears to be only bruised," he said of the left fist that was hurt in the second round of Carmen's sensational return fight with young De Marco of Boston.

Real Iron Man
Only a real iron man of the ring could have survived the terrific battering Basilio took in the early rounds, before he came on to floor De Marco twice and win another 12th round technical knockout over slugger Tony, from whom he had wrested the 147-pound title at Syracuse, N. Y. June 10.

Referee Mel Manning stopped the fight at 1:54 of the 12th.

Basilio was nearly knocked out in the seventh round by a left hook to the chin that buckled his knees and almost dropped him, and by the barrage that sent him reeling about the ring until the bell ended the seventh.

He had taken such a battering before his body attack again began to wilt De Marco that all three ring officials had young Tony ahead on their score sheets at the end of the 11th round.

Promoter Jim Norris announced he would try to stage the match between Basilio and Saxton of Brooklyn in February at Miami, Chicago, Los Angeles or Syracuse. Saxton lost the title to De Marco last April 1, and De Marco held it only 70 days before losing it to Carmen.

Hawks, Royals Win Pro Tilts

By United Press
The Rochester Royals vaulted from last to second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn. today and a major share of the credit belonged to a trio of rookies.

With newcomers Richie Regan, Ed Fleming and Jack Twyman showing the way, the Royals downed the Fort Wayne Pistons, 87-76, Wednesday night while the St. Louis Hawks beat the Minneapolis Lakers, 99-97.

As a result, the Hawks led the Western Division with a 7-4 mark followed by Rochester at 4-7, Fort Wayne at 4-8 and Minneapolis at 4-9.

Twyman led the Royals with 18 points, Fleming tallied 15 and Regan led Rochester's opening drive that opened up a 16-3 lead. The Royals led, 42-29, at the half.

In the opener of the doubleheader in Rochester, Bob Pettit scored 18 points as the Hawks rallied from a first-period deficit to lead most of the way. Clyde Lovellette scored 20 points for Minneapolis.

ELDORADO EAGLES OPEN HOME BASKETBALL SEASON FRIDAY—The Eldorado high school basketball team, that opened the 1955-56 season last Saturday with a victory at Benton, hosts the Carmi Bull Dogs Friday night. This is one of only seven games to be played on the Eldorado floor this season. Eldorado coach Al Adams says other high schools hesitate to send their teams to Eldorado due to the lack of adequate lighting in the gymnasium, the small floor space and uncomfortable seating arrangements. See Neck 'n Neck Race Between Illinois, Iowa

CHICAGO (AP) — Defending champion Iowa and experienced Illinois probably will run a neck and neck race for the Big Ten basketball title this year with Notre Dame and Marquette likely to be the top regional independents in national championship contention.

The Hawkeyes lack only three men from last year's squad which went to the national semi-finals. Big Ten coaches rated them either as the top club again, or placed Iowa about on a par with Illinois.

Notre Dame lost only one player, guard Junior Stephens, and Coach Johnny Jordan expected that sophomore Bobby Devine would take up the slack. Marquette has most of its starters back.

"Certainly we should be considered one of the favorites with our kids' back," Iowa Coach Bucky O'Connor said, "but we don't look for any bed of roses. If there is anything in a schedule break, we have it. We play Illinois and Michigan State only once and both games are at Iowa City."

"But we still have to win on the road, and anybody in the league can beat you on a given night. It's tough to win the championship at all and it's tougher the second time. Everybody's gunning for you, and they have a better idea how to play you."

Big Ten coaches generally believed that Michigan State and Indiana would be the major threats to the Hawkeyes and Illinois. The Spartans still have Julius McCoy plus some good sophomores. Indiana may have to rely on stand-out performances from sophomores Archie Dees, Jerry Thompson and Charlie Osborn.

Every other Big Ten team boasts at least one potential star. Ohio State gets star point maker Robin Freeman back. Michigan could turn into a tartar should Ron Kramer round into shape in a hurry.

Minnesota will miss Chuck Mencil and Dick Garmaker but has gigantic Bill Simonovich. Northwestern could get height from Bill Schulz and good performances from Dick Mast and Glen Lose. Purdue's Ray Eddy believes Erich Barnes and Lamar Lundy from the football team could help his club, while Wisconsin, with a problem in height, expected a "fine group of sophomores" to press the veterans and improve the team.

Spratt Elected SIU Grid Captain

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Bill Spratt, a junior fullback from Salem, Ill., will be the 1956 captain of the Southern Illinois university football team.

The announcement of Spratt's election by his teammates was made at an SIU football banquet Wednesday night.

Spratt, an Army veteran, shared first string fullback duties this season and has won varsity letters in football, wrestling and baseball. He also won awards in three sports at Salem high school where, in 1951, he ranked fifth in state prep football scoring.

Enraged Filipino Kills Cop, Wounds Six; Is Killed by Angry Mob

MANILA (AP) — A former soldier, enraged because he got a traffic ticket, shot to death a policeman and wounded six other persons Wednesday and then was beaten to death by an angry mob.

Patricio Reyes Villarin, 24, ran amok with a 1917 Enfield rifle after he had received a traffic ticket. Vowing revenge on all policemen, he shot a cop directing traffic, wounded another policeman and then fired into a crowd near a church, wounding five other persons.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON
J. C. Storms, Carrier Mills high school basketball, suffered an unusual accident Monday afternoon. While practicing with the CM team Storms fell and split his tongue. Three stitches were required to close the cut.

Whitey Rouviere, Buckner boy playing at the University of Miami, Fla., closed out his college career last Saturday in a fine manner. In the last minute he intercepted a pass that saved his team's 7-6 victory over the University of Florida. He was credited with batting many other passes to the ground, came through with lots of fine tackles and returned a kickoff 29 yards.

During his football playing career at Miami, Rouviere carried the ball for a total of 939 yards and intercepted 13 passes. He received 22 passes for a total gain in that department of 292 yards.

A spokesman for the university said "Whitey bows out of Miami football with a great record of determination and fight. He'll be very hard to replace."

West Frankfort, coached by George Iubell, opens the 1955-56 basketball campaign Friday and indications are that WF will have a much stronger team than the one that made a 15-14 record last season. Four regulars and seven lettermen are back for another season of play.

Heading the list of returning vets is Paul Peeler, 6-4 pivotman, who has already earned three varsity letters, making the WF variety as a freshman. The other three regulars coming back are guards Jerry Morrison and Roice McElwee and forward Francis Florian. Also available from the letter winners of last year are Jim Burke and Ron Avery, forwards, and Don Griffin, a guard.

In these days of beef trust squads in professional football, the San Francisco 49ers have six tackles who average 252 pounds. Bob St. Clair and Bob Tonneff top the list at 263. Then there's Leo Nomellini at 252, Sid Youngelman at 247 and Marion Campbell at 246. The baby of the six, says The Sporting News, is Al Carpalla, a puny 242.

It isn't only American women who know their baseball. The Sporting News reports that in Tokyo's version of the $64,000 question, a 26-year-old Japanese girl was able to tell what four Yankee players, Cerv, Grim, Wiesler and Turley, had in common. They are all named Bob. As the first winner of Japan's 160,000 yen question, she won a prize the equivalent of 450 dollars. Not bad, when it's considered that 450 dollars is about ten months' wages for a skilled workman in that country.

A big double header basketball program is scheduled for Dec. 6 at Kiel auditorium, St. Louis. Four of the top basketball teams in the national professional basketball league are listed to tangle that evening.

In the opener Fort Wayne and Syracuse will meet and in the nightcap it will be the St. Louis Hawks vs. Boston.

"Easy Ed" Macauley, former St. Louis university case star, heads the Boston scoring brigade. Macauley is off to his greatest year, averaging better than 20 points per game.

Dairy Brands Beat Fairfield, 49-48

The Dairy Brands, local independent basketball team, captured a 49-48 decision at Fairfield last night. Don Price, with 18 points, paced the Harrisburg team.

Others seeing action in the game were Dick Vinson, Don Stout, Mike Raley, Dave Harrison and Fred Williams of Carrier Mills.

Springer Spaniel Trials Open at Crab Orchard Lake

MARION, Ill. (AP) — The ninth annual National English Springer spaniel Field Trial opened today with the 1954 winner and two former champions seeking an unprecedented second national championship.

Thirty-five dogs took to the rugged cover of nearby Crab Orchard Refuge in search of pheasants planted in certain areas.

Last year's winner, Ludovian Bruce of Greenfair, owned by Joseph C. Quirk, Greenwich, Conn., headed the field. The ex-champions competing were Mickelwood Seed of Armonth Kennels, Chicago, the 1953 winner, and Stubblefield Ace High, owned by W. T. Gibson, Stockton, Calif., the 1952 champion.

The championship stake of five land series and two water series ends Saturday morning. Judges will be Donald Montgomery, Hollywood, Calif., and Eugene Schram, Greendale, Wis.

The Spaniels are judged on their ability to find the birds, freeze when the pheasants flush and are shot by gunners, and then retrieve the birds—all under command of their handlers. Most of the dogs will be handled by professional trainers although some owners handle their own dogs.

Wisconsin Opens Cage Play Tonight Against Butler

CHICAGO (AP) — Wisconsin opens the Big Ten basketball season tonight as the host team against Butler in the first scrap of the 1955-56 season.

Notre Dame also will begin the campaign tonight at Detroit, while Saturday seven Big Ten clubs will be in action.

Nebraska plays at Iowa Saturday afternoon in the first Big Ten television game of the year while night games will be Ohio U. at Indiana, Michigan at Pittsburgh, Western Michigan at Northwestern, Ohio State at Butler, De Paul at Minnesota, and Missouri at Purdue.

Illinois will begin the season at home against Butler Dec. 6 and Michigan State will open at home Dec. 13 against Southern Illinois.

Michigan Deer Season Closes; 35 Hunters Dead

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's 1955 deer season was over today with a staggering total of 34 hunters dead, exactly twice as many fatalities as were recorded last year.

The toll included 10 hunters dead of gunshot wounds, 17 victims of heart attacks, 3 who died of suffocation and 4 who apparently drowned in an Upper Peninsula lake.

Give Him a Present He Really Wants

His Christmas is nearly always a practical one, but good looks are combined with the practicality in these gifts. Shirts (upper left) are in the season's new, toned-down wool plaids. Dark plaid is in red and black, lighter plaid is brown and green on off-white background. Saddle-stitched pigskin travel kit (lower left) contains shaving lotion, cologne and deodorant, all in unbreakable plastic containers. Another leather kit (upper right) has oil-silk lining, is roomy and lightweight. Travel slippers are in soft glove leather, fold into practically nothing but are sturdy enough for home use. Budget-priced cartridge pen and pencil set (right center) includes new pen with dual ballpoint and standard pen point writing. It comes with refill cartridges. Watch (lower right) is a direct reading jeweled wrist watch that employs no-hands principle. Hour and minute numbers rotate on circular precision discs into clear view through a tiny V-shaped window crystal at point where numeral "6" usually appears.

BY GAIL DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — It's easy to give in to an impulse to give the man in your life what you'd like him to have for Christmas rather than what he wants. Don't do it.

If he's articulate enough to express himself about a Christmas gift and doesn't dismiss it with, "Oh, just get me anything," then buy exactly what he asks for. True, he won't be surprised on Christmas morning but his nervous system won't get an unpleasant shock, either.

If he says he wants several wool shirts, buy them. Resist the temptation to surprise him with those pretty pink cuff links.

A shirt need not be a prosy gift. Pick one of the new darkened wool plaids or pick several. Color combinations are discreet and styling is such that these shirts may be worn with or without a tie.

If he does a good deal of traveling, your shopping problem is relatively simple. He'll need a new leather case or a travel kit or those soft glove leather travel slippers that fold into no space at all. (He can wear them around the house, too.)

If he's a great user (and loser)

of ball point pens, get him one of the new budget-priced pen and pencil sets. Pen has a dual ballpoint and standard pen point and comes boxed with its own refill cartridges.

If he both needs and wants a new watch, you might have a look at one of the new direct reading watches. This watch has no hands but indicates time at a glance. Hour and minute numbers rotate on circular precision discs into clear view through a small V-shaped window placed at the spot where the number "6" usually appears on a watch. Comes in a 14-karat, gold-filled case with 21-jewel movement.

one of them, "her direction of economic aid, work relief projects and cultural programs has been influential in boosting employment."

Eleanor Dulles has the same driving energy shown by her brother, John Foster. And the two of them look much alike. The other famous member of the family is Alan Dulles, who heads the Central Intelligence Agency.

Just prior to the birth of her son, who is now in college, her husband, Dr. David Blondheim, died. He was an outstanding philologist at Johns Hopkins University.

Shortly after, she adopted a small girl named Ann to bring up with the boy.

Professionally and as a writer she has always used the name Dulles. Since becoming a widow, she attached a "Mrs." before it.

Mrs. Dulles has been with the State Department since 1942. Explaining her working relationship with the secretary, she states, "I don't say that his name doesn't help me when I travel and go to Berlin. People feel my being there is an indication of his personal interest in their affairs."

She points out, however, that her position in the State Department would probably be the same whether or not her brother was secretary. And since he took office, she has leaned over to keep all personal elements out of their association on the job.

ON OCCASIONS Mrs. Dulles confers with her brother on matters concerning Germany. This happened last June, for example, before West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's visit to the U.S.

She further helped prepare background material on Germany for Dulles to use at the Foreign Ministers Conference in Geneva.

A rather small woman, Mrs. Dulles wears neat but becoming suits matched to her gray hair. Her movements are quick, and she is constantly on the go.

"She feels that a moment wasted is not only an economic loss but a sin," comments a colleague.

For almost 20 years Mrs. Dulles has had an unbroken record of government service. She's an economist by training and author of several books on international finance.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS: 1. The First Part of An Incredible Tale

JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University
Through the efforts of the D.A.R. the grounds about long-abandoned Fort Massac at Metropolis were made into the first Illinois state park in 1903. The recent addition of several hundred acres to this park rekindles interest in the old fort and also in Colonel George Rogers Clark, whose name is inseparably connected with it. This close association continues and is justified despite the very strong likelihood that Clark was never on the actual site of the fort.

George Rogers Clark, who was born in Virginia on November 19, 1752, remains one of the great figures in early Illinois history, the dominant one during the period of the American Revolution. It was through his efforts more than those of any other persons that Illinois, along with the remainder of the Old Northwest, became a part of the United States. Most of the military activities that Clark conducted to accomplish that objective were enacted in southern Illinois.

Before coming to the Illinois country, Clark had already attained a measure of distinction as a leader on the frontier. Since he was twenty years of age he had been a land surveyor, Indian fighter and explorer. He had wielded considerable influence in having the Kentucky country set aside as a county of Virginia instead of an independent state to be known as Transylvania. When this new country had been created, Clark was made a major of militia and given the task of defending the settlements against Indian attacks. This when he was 24 years of age.

Prepared Bold Plan

In appearance Clark was an imposing figure. He was six feet tall, of strong and symmetrical build, red haired and with dark eyes and of dignified appearance. He had that personal magnetism evident in great leaders. Portraits of Clark show much of the same self confidence and calmness evident in the portraits of Washington. Many remarked upon this and Clark took pride in the resemblance he bore to his great contemporary.

Upon being given the task of defending the frontier, Clark made bold plans. He could drive the British from their posts at Detroit and Vincennes and from the Illinois country. To accomplish this purpose, Clark would have preferred to move directly against Detroit. The distance, difficulties of transportation and shortage of men and supplies made such a direct approach inadvisable. He therefore decided first to attack the British posts in the Illinois country.

When these plans were submitted to Governor Patrick Henry and other Virginia leaders, they approved. Clark was commissioned as a lieutenant colonel, given orders for some essential military supplies and authorized to enlist 350 men.

Clark gathered these men and supplies on Corn Island in the Ohio just above the falls in the river where Louisville, Kentucky, now stands. When all was in readiness, the soldiers were told that the expedition was to proceed against Kaskaskia. That night a number of them deserted. Others were eliminated because they were not considered physically equal to the arduous campaign that lay ahead. These desertions and eliminations reduced his forces to 175 men, a scant half the number he had sought. Undeterred, however, Clark promptly set out on the mission that was to win a great territory for the nation being created and to bring to its leader an undying fame.

Seized Fort Without a Shot

The falls of the Ohio were shot during a total eclipse of the sun, and all due haste was made downstream. They soon arrived at the mouth of the creek about a mile above deserted Fort Massac. Here Clark's men hid their boats and spare equipment and spent the night. On the next morning they met some hunters who had recently been in Kaskaskia. With these men as guides, the little army set out in single file through the forest toward their objective. In three days they reached the open prairies west of Marion in Williamson county, where the trail was lost. Clark suspected treachery, and told the guide that he would be shot if he did not promptly discover the way. The trail was shortly found and the march resumed. On the evening of July 4, 1778, Clark's forces reached the Kaskaskia river at a farmhouse about three miles above the town. They found boats and crossed to the western side of the stream.

Clark divided his forces into two groups. One of these surrounded the town to cut off all avenues of escape. The others went directly to the fort, found the gate unlocked, surprised the commander de Rocheblave and captured him. Before morning the entire town had been disarmed. All this took place without the firing of a shot or the injury of a man. Cahokia, Prairie du Rocher and St. Philippe likewise fell without a struggle. Emissaries to Vincennes accomplished the same end without incident. All pledged allegiance to the American cause. Clark was in full possession of the Illinois country.

Indians, hearing of the manner in which Clark had supplanted the British in the region, came to smoke the pipe of peace. Fortune had smiled upon the venture. The first part of Clark's campaign in the Illinois country had been successful. The second part of his Illinois campaign, one of the most incredible in American history, followed in a few months.

Eleanor Dulles, Sister of Secretary Of State, Watches Over Health of Berlin

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — An announcer stepped to the stage of an outdoor amphitheater in West Berlin.

"I would like to introduce a friend from America," he declared. "Her name is Eleanor Dulles."

Immediately the audience rose to its feet with cheers and thunderous applause. It was the biggest ovation anyone received during the evening. And more than half the crowd had come from the Communist sector of the city.

For Eleanor Lansing Dulles is a popular and respected figure in Berlin—and not just because she is the sister of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

As Special Assistant to the Director of German Affairs at the U. S. State Department, she has visited the city six times in the last three years.

"SHE CARES FOR Berlin as if it were her baby," said a prominent German not long ago. That in a nutshell describes Eleanor Dulles' work. Since late 1952 she has been keeping close watch on the economic and cultural health of Berlin's western zone, which is a vital outpost of freedom in the midst of Red territory.

"I know the city. I know the people. I know their problems," she told me, sitting in her small office at the State Department shortly after a recent trip to Berlin. "I think they like me. And I'm sure they don't dislike me." Communist commentators in the eastern zone are probably the only ones who don't welcome Mrs. Dulles to Berlin with open arms. They predict dire developments every time she comes.

One of her jobs is to make sure Berlin is prepared for another blockade by the Russians. She checks supplies of food, fuel and other items that would be needed in case of such an emergency.

SHE ALSO MAKES it a point to talk to as many persons as possible while in the city. She confers with the mayor, his cabinet, labor leaders and businessmen.

"I always go to a refugee center to see what the conditions are," she explains. "And I chat with workers and people on the street." Unemployment has been a major problem in Berlin and one of Mrs. Dulles' chief interests. Once a government city much like Washington, it now must depend mainly on manufacturing and commercial business.

Furthermore, a constant stream of escapees from communism comes into the city. Because it is isolated from West Germany, it is not easy to absorb them.

DURING THE LAST three years, however, unemployment has dropped off from 300,000 to 115,000, according to State Department officials. "Although she alone is not responsible," says she, "the State Department has helped prepare background material on Germany for Dulles to use at the Foreign Ministers Conference in Geneva."

A rather small woman, Mrs. Dulles wears neat but becoming suits matched to her gray hair. Her movements are quick, and she is constantly on the go.

"She feels that a moment wasted is not only an economic loss but a sin," comments a colleague.

For almost 20 years Mrs. Dulles has had an unbroken record of government service. She's an economist by training and author of several books on international finance.

A good attendance was reported in Sunday school Sunday. It feels as if "Ole Man Winter" has come to visit us.

The mothers of this community attended their annual Thanksgiving dinner at Taylor school Wednesday before Thanksgiving.

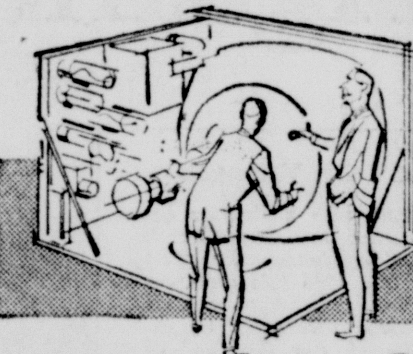

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hintz and son, Terry Lynn, Shattuc, Ill., visited with Mrs. Gladys Godbey Sunday evening.

Kressa Church made a business trip to Equality Friday.

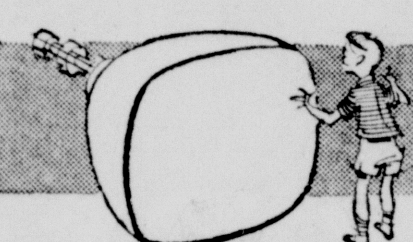

Sunday morning callers at the Kressa Church home were LaVerne Hathaway, Charles B. Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Adams and daughter, Mary Ellen.

The condition of Mrs. Kressa Church continues to remain the same.

SIMPLICITY WINS
It is not necessarily the more the merrier when speaking of Christmas tree decorations. Often simplicity—such as homemade decorations of heavy construction paper—is more effective than a tree that is all silver and glass.

GIFT SUPREMACY
Well-heeled Santas can construct a living room train set at only slightly less than it cost to build the Pennsylvania Railroad. A complete system—with all accessories—costs well over a thousand dollars.

Nurse Shortage To Continue At Least 15 Years

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (U.P.)—If you get sick any time between now and 1960 you may become the victim of a national shortage—nurses.

The shortage will continue to plague us for at least 15 years, said we can't blame our young girls. A higher percentage of 18-year-olds entered nursing in 1954 than in 1940.

We simply have fewer 18-year-olds now, which can be traced back to low birthrates in depression years. And we have twice as many people admitted to hospitals each year as we did during depression years.

Mrs. Lucile Petty Leon knows as much about our chances for having a nurse stand by our sick bed as any woman in the United States. She is the assistant surgeon general of the United States and chief nurse officer of the U. S. Public Health Service.

High Birth Rate

"We may catch up in 15 to 20 years," Mrs. Leone said in an interview here. "The birth rate was high in the early 1940's, and by 1959 those girls will be the right age to begin training."

Mrs. Leone, a pretty, white-haired woman, came here this week from Washington to accept a group award from the Albert Lasker Foundation for leadership in improving the nation's sick room situation.

"We have done nationwide surveys that show how we can solve some of the problems," Mrs. Leone said.

More Hospital Aides

"We must have more paid hospital aides to take over some of the clerical duties the nurses now do," she said. "It has been shown that the average head nurse spends much as 30 per cent of her time on clerical duties, and it could be cut to 5 per cent."

New hospitals in small communities are helping too, she said. A woman who has retired from nursing often goes back into the field when her community gets its own modern hospital.

Murder in Haiti

XXVIII
Lynch went on. "Karl Vogel, my injured and retarded brain, has apparently appointed himself the years to protect the treasure of which he alone in this hemisphere knew the hiding place. An added, and imbecile, precaution Vogel at some time had piled stones against the door of the fourth chamber. The natives of this district, having no suspicion of the familiar ruin containing any thing of value, found no significance in this act."

"Mr. Dibble, Meer, Deane, myself and the unknown then returned to the vault. Vogel had seen the man who had tried to kill him and three strangers with their attention fixed on the door behind which the chests lay. By a labored process of his poor intelligence, with the slowness which so often characterizes the mentally defective, I believe Vogel decided it would throw his stones to the door of an adjoining, and empty, chamber. That pitiable and useless gesture of this one faithful man changed greatly to facilitate what followed."

Lynch was speaking swiftly, with the precision of someone dictating a report.

"In the interval, Meer was summoned to Braun's cabin. There he was given a dressing down for having made a dressing down for letting himself be observed while making it. Meer concluded the interview by addressing Braun as 'Mein Fuhrer.'"

Meer was glaring at Lynch with a hatred diluted, in spite of himself, with amazement.

"Meer had two items of evidence that he did indeed know where the chests were hidden and how to reach them. A key and a ring lit which had been threaded to it a particular socket. Braun demanded that as an earnest of Meer's continued good intentions, Meer leave those with him. Meer did so but with bad grace."

"Braun, remember, already had in his possession the chart and written instructions which would lead him without difficulty to the place where the gold was cached. When the whereabouts of the chests was verified, Meer would no longer be needed. Braun, I

Driving's Exciting Again!

Greatest "Go" On Wheels
No other car performs like a Pontiac because Pontiac alone has the Pontiac-Buick V-8—most modern and efficient power plant in the industry. And for 1956 this great engine delivers 227 blazing horsepower with an ease and smoothness that must be experienced to be believed. For the "go" of the year, go Pontiac.

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—Zsa Zsa Gabor hung out a wanted sign Thursday for one husband, the steady kind who goes to work every morning.

The Hungarian sat fuming last year's diamonds and reflecting on her past life of three husbands and international glamour. She decided the time has come to settle down with an old-fashioned-type American husband.

"I am ready to get married," she said in that lilting accent. "Maybe I should advertise. I have a house, diamonds and money in the bank!"

In this case the "lonely hearts" applicant is beautiful, blonde, sharp, rich, age unknown.

Any applicants for the job must be home-grown. Zsa Zsa wants to live in America. And actors need not apply.

"No actors," continued Zsa Zsa. "I want a man who will be a good father to my daughter, a nice settled-down man. No more glamour. I want," she said firmly, "a man who gets up in the morning and goes to work and then comes home at night."

This lets out international playboy Porfirio Rubirosa whom Zsa Zsa has been speculating for many editions about marrying.

"Rubi arrived in this country Monday and he wants me to come to Palm Beach. I adore him, but—"

"I'm tired of being alone. My child needs a father. I have four suitors now—including a Texan who has 100 million dollars—but I'm so busy with my career I don't have much time to date."

CHECK LIGHT WIRING
Check all wiring when replacing it on tree. Defective wiring causes sparks. Sparks cause fire. For this reason, even new wiring should bear the National Board of Fire Underwriters' seal of approval.

Let's say you have just logged an extra-long day's mileage in your '56 Pontiac. Your clock tells you it's time to stop for the night.

Then it comes to you. You don't want to stop! You just want to keep on and on, piloting this sweet, singing beauty wherever fancy points.

Sound like a wonderful dream? It happens time and again to owners of this fabulous new car. And the lure that leads them on and on is the exciting performance of Pontiac's great new Strato-Streak V-8 engine

... the most thrilling performance on the American highway.

Traffic's a delight in this agile car. Power flows smooth as oil when you leave a light, and with the sharp authority of 227 blazing "horses". Brakes respond with crisp, new certainty. The wheel answers fast as pointing your finger. You're driving with a confidence you've never felt before!

And highway touring is pure pleasure! You swing the curves with new sure-footed certainty... clear a high hill or sweep safely past a loiterer on the road with the happy assurance that you command the greatest "go" on wheels.

And when you settle down to cruising speed on an open highway—that's the real payoff on your good judgment! This is living in a wonderful new way. Driving's exciting again!

Come in and try it—your car can prove it in 10 minutes as easily as in 10 hours. And you'll prove something else... Pontiac's glamour matches its "go"—it's the greatest on the road!

Test the all-new thrills of the fabulous '56 Pontiac
